Trinitarian Church Building Committee Report Recommendations After Study

At a special business meeting of the Trinitarian Congregational church Monday evening the church building survey committee made its report after two years of study of the needs of the church and the church school to a group of 125 members and friends.

The report read by Edgar J. Livingston, chairman of the committee, of which the other members are Sallie R. Gillespie, Lillian G. Wells, Leonard R. Lanphear and A. Gordon Moody, was accepted by vote and thanks rendered to them. Rev. Joseph W. Reeves was a committee member, ex-officio. cl. 'ks, Hippfy S meuzj ex-officio.

Arland A. Dirlam, church architect of Boston, who has been working with the committee, assisted the chairman, Edgar J. Livingston, in presenting a summary of the committee's studies and recommendations. Copies of the report were distributed. Action of it, other than its formal acceptance, was deferred for two weeks when another special meeting will be held on the evening of June 9.

The report included estimates for a new sanctuary building with parish hall in the basement, of brick construction, at a cost of from $170,800 to $182,300. Cost of an adjoining new religious education building was estimated at $121,900 to $126,900. Because this total cost would be prohibitive at this time, the committee recommended building the sanctuary building first and using the pres-

At the meeting of the Pioneer Valley regional school committee last week two purchases were made—a power lawn mower, a 75 in. Locke of the McGovern Co. of Springfield for $1,272. It is equipped with a heavy duty motor, detachable sulky and an 18 in. rotary mower for trimming. There is a 2% discount from this sale price.

The second purchase supplies the school with a 16 mm. sound projector from the Valley Studio and Camera Supply Co. of Turners Falls for $370. It is a 400 series unit and will be used with the built-in sound system in the school auditorium. A trolley installation was also voted for the vocational-agriculture shop.

There will be no meeting of the Pioneer Valley regional school committee this week. A group will meet with ministers from the member towns on Sunday to discuss and plan for the baccalaureate service to be held at the school auditorium June 8. ent building for church school facilities until the new religious education unit might be built.

Various plans for remodeling the present structure were considered but the report listed a number of reasons for not recommending total renovation of the present facilities, whose cost is estimated at $170,100, although this could be carried out in stages as money was available and avoid borrowing. Plans also were considered for building a new sanctuary and moving the present building to become a religious education building attached to it. Estimated remodeling costs involved, including lowering the roof, amounted to $364,000 and this plan was rejected as too costly to be practical.

The report reviewed possible financing methods by which the present available funds of $71,000 would be augmented by a hoped-for $50,000 from fund raising campaigns and $55,000 in loans from banks or other sources.

The new building would be located on the corner of the present lot with parking area and location of a future religious education building planned. The sanctuary would be on the first floor up only a few steps from the ground level and a parish hall and kitchen would be located in the basement.

The adjourned meeting on June 9 will be an important one for the future of the church and every member of the church should plan now to attend.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Editor, Northfield Press:

With reference to J. Austin Daly's letter to the editor published in your May 23rd edition, I would like to point out that although most of us will agree with the need for economy in all town affairs, I think we will also agree that Mr. Daly's choice of words was most unfortunate.

I cannot see how Mr. Daly, who spends the majority of his time in Florida can set himself up as an authority on "the type of men" we have filling any town position. Respectfully,

Horace F. Field

Party Time Is Here Again!

It's the month for parties . . . showers for the June bride or "get-togethers" for the graduate. Both happy events in the lives of those to be "feted". What could be a nicer way to celebrate the occasion than a colorful buffet luncheon. Make it a gay affair! Plan a menu that's fancy enough to be festive, yet simple to prepare.

Canned chicken a la king . . . tender chunks of chicken in a smooth creamy sauce . . . combined with diced cooked ham and served in crispy toast cups makes a perfect entree. It's so easy, yet has such party airs!

Buttered asparagus spears are an added treat for this special luncheon. To bring extra "honors" to you . . . arrange an attractive relish tray . . . peach halves filled with cream cheese and walnuts, spicy crab apples and wedges of avocado.

The poor finish and dilapidated appearance of old furniture can be misleading. Under that marred finish may be an expensive wood and solid construction.

With the aid of your electric sander or the sanding attachments of an electric drill or polisher, you can bring such furniture "back alive" at a cost far less than that of new furniture.

Depending upon the furniture you're refinishing, you may have to remove hardware—such as hinges, locks, and knobs.

Remove the finish by brushing on paint remover or varnish remover. Do this work outdoors or in a well-ventilated room. Using a putty knife, scrape off the old finish.

Many paint removers leave a waxy film. You can wipe this away with turpentine or benzene.

Electric sanders make refinishing an easy task.

At this stage you are ready to begin the refinishing process. But before you do, you'll want to fill any gashes or mars with plastic wood.

Sand the entire surface with an electric orbital sander or the sanding attachments of an electric drill. If you notice any particularly rough areas or stained sections, try to work them out by smoothing the whole surface that is affected.

Before applying a finish of your choice, clean up all sanding dust from furniture and floor. Your job would be ruined if it fell on the wet finish.

Depending on the wood and the type of finish you apply, your electric sander will be of great service for sanding between coats of shellac or lacquer. Wax can be buffed on effortlessly after the final coat with the buffing attachments of the sander, drill, or polishing tool.

Pioneer Regional High News

If you are the type who likes peace and quiet, I suggest that you keep far away from Pioneer Valley regional school these last few weeks because our school is not the most relaxing place to be with sports, senior activities and those terrible final exams creeping up on us.

The student council has finally been well organized and weekly meetings will be held until the close of school. Last week on Thursday the council met and discussed the possibility of purchasing sweaters and sweatshirts with the school seal on them to be sold in the fall. A salesman came and showed us what he had to offer but more company representatives will be interviewed before a final decision is made. A plaque has been ordered for the name of the winner of the intra-mural cross country race which was held last week.

Tuesday of this week another meeting was held and it was decided to buy book covers to sell in September. A committee was appointed to look into purchasing letters for sports awards and they were to find out from the coaches who will be eligible for these awards.

Wednesday, May 21, a two mile intermural cross country race was held at the school. There were fifteen participants and Lewis Starkey was the winner in eleven minutes. Fred Fuller came in second in eleven minutes and five seconds. Harry White came in third in twelve minutes and ten seconds.

Our boys have engaged in several baseball games this past week. Monday our varsity played Frontier high school and lost by a score of five to one. Tuesday the varsity played Arms J. V. winning with a score of 22 to 13.

Monday the J. V. played Turners Falls freshmen. The score was 6 to 5 in our favor.

Next week is to be a very exciting one in our program of sports. Monday, June 2, we will play Arms J. V. at Arms, Tuesday a home game with Mahar at the Northfield high school field.

Tuesday the girls' softball team traveled to Greenfield high and was defeated by the Greenfield girls. The score of this game was 12 to 4. So far the team has played four games and is looking forward to the two remaining to be played.

Monday the Pioneer chapter of the F.F.A. initiated fourteen members to the "green hand" degree in Future Farmers of America. This is the first of four degrees. The green hand and chapter farmer degrees are conducted by the local chapters of the organization. State and star farmer degrees are state and national presentations.

Twenty-six members of Mrs. Yeager's senior English class visited the Chateau in Northfield Wednesday afternoon. In recent weeks the class has been studying the literature of the Norman period and the trip to the Chateau was very helpful in providing deeper understanding of life in the times of castles. A guide from the Northfield hotel showed the group around and the following people provided transportation: David Streeter, Gaylord Gray, Alice Williams, David Billings and Mrs. Yeager.

Saturday, May 24, about forty members of our senior high glee band and our band went to Easthampton for the annual Western Massachusetts Music Festival. The students were transported by the buses of William Shores of Bernardston and Glen Matthews of Warwick with Mrs. Wendell Streeter and Mrs. George Leonard to keep the gala groups in rein. They set out at 9 o'clock from the school for a long day of festivities which ended when we arrived home about 6:30 in the evening. With Miss Dorothy Eccles directing and Daniel Fallon accompanying, the glee club had a very successful audition.

The band was equally well received in its performance. Led by our band and majorettes a few of the hardy souls in the glee club who had tough feet marched behind them in the parade that followed all the individual glee club and band performances. Everyone was happy but tired upon returning home.

In observance of Memorial day an assembly has been planned at PVRS for this afternoon. Rev. James Whyte from Mount Hermon will be guest speaker. The rest of the program will consist of selections presented by the students including the governor's proclamation by Dorothy Given, In Flanders Field by Kathryn Stoddard, America's Answer by Ray Glabach, the Gettysburg Address by Cora Hurlburt. The French class will sing "Marsellaise," the French national anthem and "Alonette." The public is invited to attend this assembly at 12:10 today.

June 13, 1958, Pioneer will be the scene of an historic event. On this day the very first graduation ceremonies will be held.

From the senior class of 26, ten students have decided to continue their education while the other sixteen members are seeking jobs or admittance to the armed forces.

On the night after graduation, June 14, the graduated will be celebrating at the Gables Restaurant in South Deerfield. Along with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Upham the seniors will be enjoying a banquet.

Program Held At Center School

The Center school observed Memorial day Monday by dividing into three groups: grades 1 and 2, grades 3 and 4 and grades 5 and 6 for assemblies with Miss Dorothy Eccles, music supervisor, in charge. There was a review of the music for the year as well as patriotic songs.

The annual achievement tests have been completed except for a few absentees and all children have been weighed and measured by Mrs. Marian Billings, school nurse, to find their growth since the beginning of the year.

Dental honor rolls were checked this week and Mrs. Jean Kozlowski's fourth grade has again won the banner with 71% having brought in certificates showing that all necessary dental work has been completed. More than half of the entire school has received such certificates and a large percent more are still undergoing treatment. Any certificates received by the children after school closes will be counted in next year's reckoning.

The last day that children will attend the Center school will be Thursday, June 12, when there will be a full day's session. Teachers only will report on Friday, June 13, to complete the year's work.

Past Matrons OES Hold Food Sale

Smorgasbord Planned

The Community club of Bernardston is serving a public smorgasbord dinner at the elementary school on Memorial day from 11:30 to 1:30. No reservations are required.

Mr. and Mrs. Sutherland with their daughter, Mrs. Isabel Clark, and grandsons, Dr. Edward Clark of Wilmington, Del., and Lt. Charles Clark, just returned from service with the U. S. Air Force in Japan, were away at the time.

The smoke was discovered by the Recorder-Gazette paper boy and a neighbor called the fire department. Damage was estimated by Fire Chief Floyd M. Dunnell at between $1000 and $1500.

Auxiliary Poppy Sale Brings $80 Profit

The annual sale of poppies here by the members of the American Legion auxiliary brought in $80 to be used for rehabilitation work of the auxiliary. Five hundred poppies were distributed and it was felt that even more could have been disposed of. The committee wishes to express its appreciation to all who helped.

300 Participate In Memorial Day Parade

One of the finest Memorial day observances held in recent years was the feature of this year's 30th of May. Beautiful weather and our own school bands accounted for the large number, more than 300, in the parade and a large audience along the parade route and at the service at the Center cemetery.

Capt. William Cunliff, military aide to Gov. Foster Furcolo, was parade marshal and presented the governor's message at the cemetery program. ## Harper Exhibit Creates Interest

The Ford Motor company's exhibit in the audio-visual room of Talcott library, Northfield School for Girls, has created a great deal of interest on the campus. The eleven pictures of "America's Vanishing Birds" are not only of artistic merit, but they are also a significant commentary on the encroachment of civilization on the world's wild life. Of the eleven American birds pictured, five have already been completely exterminated and the others are in the process of becoming extinct. The exhibit is indeed a potent argument in favor of appropriate laws and of greater diligence on the part of all men to protect our wildlife legacy.

These pictures were painted by Charles Harper who has been contributing to Ford publications and exhibits since 1948. "America's Vanishing Birds" is one of twenty-three travelling art exhibits which have been assembled from the Ford Times collection. Several Ford exhibits have previously been displayed at Talcott library.

Following a discussion a committee is to be appointed to study the advisability of increasing the dues which are now $1. This committee will report at a later meeting.

A third class junk permit was issued to Waterman Junk and Parts, owner Raymond C. Waterman, of Orange road at the meeting of the board Monday evening following a public hearing at which there were no objectors.

Present at the meeting of the selectmen were the local insurance agents, Mrs. Priscilla C. Carroll, Edward M. Powell, Jr., and Roy J. Fish, who reported on an appraisal of the town's public buildings which they had been asked to study. They recommended an increase in insurance because of the higher building and replacement costs and also that the town carry windstorm insurance on public property.

The committee authorized at the last town meeting to study the advisability of purchasing the Northfield Water company and to prepare a tentative plan to purchase and operate the same has been appointed by the town moderator, Edgar J. Livingston. The members are Harvey H. Hatheway of the planning board, Lee Sheldon of the board of assessors and Corvys M. Heselton, selectman, chairman of the committee.

Historical Society Plans 'Open House'

The Northfield Historical society met Tuesday evening at the museum on Pine street for the quarterly meeting. Miss Elsie Scott presided and the secretary's report was given by Miss Shields. Tentative plans were discussed for a day of "open house" at Northfield's old houses to be held the last part of July sponsored by the Fortnightly and Historical society.

Miss Scott and members present told of the many and varied industries carried on here since the first settlement in 1714, among them many interesting ones; in 1813, 13,875 bushels of hops were sent to Germany; later lye made from wood ashes was shipped to Italy and there were many distilleries located in all parts of the town.

Other industries mentioned were the manufacture of hats, brooms, soapstone ware, wagons, tools made by local blacksmiths and innumerable other articles necessary to the early settlers of the area.

Valuable historical documents recently purchased by the society were on display. Refreshments were served by Miss Scott assisted by Miss Della White.

Civic Council May Compile Register

The Civic council met Wednesday of last week and discussed the possibility of a register of persons available for temporary or part-time work which could be consulted by persons desiring such assistance. A committee will be appointed to study the situation and make recommendations at a later meeting to be called for that purpose.

A meeting will be called the last part of July to make plans for the annual Village Fair sponsored by the council on Labor day weekend.

Pioneer Regional High News

Baccalaureate exercises will be held Sunday, June 8, at 4 p.m. at the Pioneer Valley regional school auditorium.

Three of the clergymen from churches in this area will also participate in the program. A selected group of glee club members will sing Oh, Glorious Sun and Jessica Walker will sing the Lord's Prayer. There will also be two hymns by the audience.

The guest speaker for the graduation exercises June 13 will be Rev. Thomas Roy, former pastor of the Baptist church of Worcester. Rev. Roy is well known throughout New England as an excellent speaker. At graduation the glee club will sing The Lord's Prayer, with Jessica Walker as soloist, My God and I and the Happy Wanderer, with the solo parts sung by David Barnes.

The public is invited to both services.

This week the junior English classes of Mrs. Samuel Yeager have a display in the showcase in the lobby. A short time ago each member of the class was required to do a project on an American author in whom they were truly interested.

Some of these booklets were put on display along with pictures concerning various authors such as Robert Frost, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, Ralph Waldo Emerson, Ogden Nash, Billy Graham, Walt Whitman, Louisa May Alcott and many others. Novels which members of the junior class have read were also put on display. In the center of the showcase is a literary map of the United States showing where the various authors were born and what part of the country they wrote about.

On Tuesday each student completed a literary map of his own, showing where the authors they have studied this year are located.

The students spent a great deal of time on these projects and the results show their many hours of effort.

The girls' softball team traveled to Amherst Tuesday to play the last away game for this season. The girls had a bad start in the first inning. As the game progressed they gained more confidence, but it didn't seem to help them very much. The girls' team of Amherst is able to play only one game with us this year because they have had transportation difficulties. The P.V.R.S. girls have only one game left to play this season and that will be at Northfield on the high school field, next Tuesday.

To acquaint next year's seventh graders with our school and our teachers, we have invited them to be our guests and get an idea of what they will be doing next year.

Tuesday eighteen sixth graders from Northfield visited us and yesterday eighteen more came. Today twenty-one Bernardston pupils are at Pioneer and tomorrow Warwick and Leyden students will have their turn.

These visitors are coming to school on the regular buses, are attending seventh grade classes just as they will next year, eating their lunches here and after a busy day, go home with favorable reports, we hope, of what goes on at P.V.R.S.

As the school year draws to a close, final examinations have started. This week the seniors are taking their regular class final tests and next week they will be having standard finals in the courses they have taken this year. All other classes will be taking tests made up by their teachers next week and standard exams the following week.

This conclude the news for this week.

Dickinson Library Notes

Your librarian attended the annual spring meeting of the Connecticut Valley Library club which was held on Thursday, May 22, at Camp Apex, Shelburne Falls.

The following slate of officers, presented by the nominating committee was elected to serve the coming year: president, Richard Morrill, librarian at Adams; vice president, Mrs. Byron Scott of Lyonsville; secretary - treasurer, Mrs. Adella Allis, associate librarian at S. White Dickinson library, Whately.

There were 19 librarians and trustees present at the business meeting and roll call held at 10 a.m.

Following a talk by Miss Cornelia Church on "Budgets for Small Libraries," a discussion period was held on how to better the services of the libraries and the duties of the trustees.

It was the consensus of opinion that better services in libraries could only be had by presenting the needs and desirability of a better program with larger services to the public, that is, the taxpayer. One way of doing this would be to contact the selectmen and finance board to enlist their interest and support, it was stated.

It was noted by Miss Church that a fair allowance for libraries per capita of population is considered to be $3.50. This figure is based on a full time opening of six days.

After the noon-day lunch, Mr. Le Vanway of the Recorder Gazette gave an interesting talk on "Reporters and reporting for a small-town newspaper."

The fall meeting of this club will be held at Adams at the invitation of Richard Morrill, the new president.

In addition to our daily duties at the library, 51 books were processed and placed on the shelves during the month. Included are 26 new books and 25 gifts from several donors.

In addition to the titles I have formerly given, we have: Antique Tin and Tole Ware by Mary Gould; Audubon Guides, birds of Eastern and Central America;

Field guide to rocks and minerals; The Ordeal of Wilson by Herbert Hoover; Basketball Is My Life by Cousy; Schools without Scholars by Keats; The Greengage Summer by Godden; Mountain Road by White; Kate Cavanaugh by Downes; Ice Palace by Edna Ferber; The Revolutionary, by Schoonover.

Gifts were as follows: Birds over America by Peterson; Camera Assignment by Atkins and Bappte; The Lonesome Quarter by Wormser; Champion Road by Tilsley; The Desperate Search by Mayse; The Mohawk Ladder by Gerson; Gus, the Great, by Duncan.

This week we have a shipment of children's titles to prepare for the shelves and hope they will encourage the summer reading for those children who are able to come to the library.

THE RETURN OF SPRING

Spring again tells us the story
Of the wonderful love of God.
With all the happy voices singing—
Joyous praises they are bringing
Songs of redeeming love.

The world is full of music sweet.
The bluebirds sing their songs of praise
In the early morning dawn
In the apple trees on the lawn;

Have you listened to the voices
In the early flower beds?
The daffodils and the tulips too
Are pushing up their little heads.

I too, would sing that story
Of the Christ who died for all.
For all nature is now rejoicing—
Rocks and trees, Skies and seas, are singing
The song of redeeming love.

Through a Kitchen Window

Have you ever tasted parsnip pie? Dee-licious! If you like parsnips. It has an unusual and distinctive flavor. Cooked parsnips, sliced, diced or cut into strips, seasoned with salt and butter, are very good. So are fried parsnips. But parsnip pie is the epitome of all.

Parsnips are cultivated for the long, thick, white, edible root, and can be found on the vegetable counter of your favorite grocery store or supermarket, temptingly packaged in cellophane bags. These plump, tasty roots add variety to any meal before fresh, home-grown garden vegetables mature.

The parsnip is a tall, stout biennial with cut-toothed leaflets and grooved stem. The yellow flowers are arranged in a broad, flat-topped cluster which is called an umbel. Most home gardeners know the seeds which are very much flattened. The surface is ribbed with the two lateral ribs extending into wings.

These thin, flat seeds retain their vitality a relatively short time, only about one or two years. They are slow to germinate (approximately 21 days), and when the home gardener plants them in the early spring, the harvest seems a long way off. The storage problem is practically nil, for the roots may be left in the ground to be dug in the late winter or early spring as needed. Winter freezing does not injure parsnips, in fact, some say it improves the quality, and makes the vegetables sweeter and more delicious. They retain their crisp freshness when handled this way.

Pastinaca sativa is the parsnip's botanical name. It belongs to the parsley family and is kin to the carrot, celery, dill and fennel. Pastinaca comes from the Latin word pastus, which means food; also from the Latin, pastino, to prepare the ground for planting the vine.

Memorial Day Exercises Held

The parade was led by color bearers, V.F.W. firing squad and Thayer high school band. Following the band were members of the Legion post, V.F.W. auxiliary, Legion auxiliary, Winchester fire department, Brownie troop, Girl Scout troop, Boy Scout troop and the elementary school children.

The line of march started at the V.F.W. home to Main street, facing the World War I monument, where the introduction was given by Commander Francis T. Barden and invocation by Rev. Edgar Flory, followed by placing of wreaths at the Soldiers' monuments. Herbert Landrigan of Raymond, N. H., past department commander of New Hampshire V.F.W., gave the address.

The parade went to Evergreen cemetery for the V.F.W. ritual at the unknown soldier's grave. Chaplain Henry C. Thayer, Sr., gave the prayer, which was followed by the school children singing "America." Prayer and benediction were by Rev. Mr. Flory and the salute by the V. F. W. firing squad. Taps was played by Charles Land and the echo by Richard Baker, members of the Thayer band. The school children participating were served refreshments.

Center school pupils conducted Memorial day services Thursday around the flagpole in front of the school. Boy Scouts Robert Miner, George Whittle, Robert Gould, John Denjak, Thomas O'Connor, Charles Hildreth, Richard Smith, James Pelky, Neil Kilanski and Otis Shine performed the flag-raising ceremonies and "taps" was played by James Pelky. Scout Richard Smith raised the flag.

Ruth Hodgman, Gail Porter, Mary-Theresa Amarosa, Laurel Robb and Doris Thompson gave a short exercise titled "Our Soldiers." Linda White recited the poem, "The Blue and the Gray." "The Gettysburg Address" was read by Jean Hildreth followed by group singing of "America."

Kiwanis Conducts Clean-up Program

The Winchester Kiwanis club, represented by twenty members, conducted a clean-up program at the park Tuesday to prepare it for the coming season. Charles Morse directed the fireplace repairs.

A picnic supper, served by Norman LeClair, proprietor of the Ashuelot hotel, followed. A directors' meeting for June 5 to be held at Frank Leavey's home, was announced by President Dwight Holton. Homer Badley, Keene lawyer, will be guest speaker next week.

¼ teaspoon salt

While the parsnips are still warm, add the butter and salt. Beat the eggs slightly, add sugar and nutmeg. Add milk and parsnip mixture and mix well. Pour into a pastry-lined pie pan. Sprinkle a little nutmeg over the top. Bake in a 400-degree oven about 30 minutes, or until top is nicely browned and silver knife inserted into side of filling (custard) comes out clean. Serve warm or cold.

Parsnip pie lifts the spirits and makes an ordinary meal something of a production. Not everyone will agree. But then, that's half the fun—each to his own taste.

"Yankee Homecoming" Year To be Featured at Swanzy

This is to be "Yankee Homecoming Year" at the 17th annual revival of Denman Thompson's "The Old Homestead" by the Swanzy Players in the Potash Bowl, Swanzy, N. H., on July 11, 12, 13 at 8:15 each evening. Friday will be Agricultural night; Saturday, governor's night and Sunday, church night. There will be a band, concert by the Old Homestead band each evening at 7:30.

The Potash Bowl is a natural amphitheatre, surrounded by tall pines located on Route 32; "The Old Homestead" Highway in Swanzy Center. It is only a short distance from the original Old Homestead and only a few miles from Denman Thompson's home.

This is the 17th year that this beloved old comedy-drama which brought fame and fortune to its author, Denman Thompson, has been presented in his home town. "The Old Homestead" played in New York four years, in Boston two years and in Philadelphia two years and also ran several years in Chicago, San Francisco and Pittsburgh. It is directed from the original script with many of the original costumes, properties and scenery including the Grace church scene which Denman Thompson purchased. Working oxen are a featured part of the production.

A public supper will be served at the Buck Meeting House in Swanzy Center on Friday night and at the Golden Rod Grange in Swanzy Center and the Community church in West Swanzy on Saturday night. No reservations are required—first come, first served.

For ticket reservations write Miss Alice Marsh or telephone (Keene Elmwood 2-1988). Tickets may be purchased at Bullard and Shedd's in Keene, N. H., beginning July 5.

Anyone who has not attended one of these 17 annual productions should plan to go this year. Many from this area attend every year as one of the summer's principal important events.

Public Health Nurse Reports 130 Visits

The public health nurse, Mrs. Marian Billings, reports 130 visits during the month of May; 120 noncommunicable, two acute communicable, five anti-partum, six pre-school and 68 adults.

Fifty children received attention at school and three children attended the crippled children's clinic. Children in kindergarten through grade 6 were weighed and measured and the results recorded on individual health cards. Four children were taken to the dentist's office and two adults to the doctor's office. A talk on "Health and Hygiene" was given to a group of sixth grade Girl Scouts. Calls were made to five homes to report negative reports on chest X-rays made last month.

150 Attend OES Reception

One hundred fifty attended the reception held last week Wednesday evening for Deputy Grand Matron Helen Fish and Deputy Grand Marshal Ruth Hurburt at the Masonic hall. Among the special guests were Ann Cutone, grand conductress from Somerville, and Associate Grand Conductress Elise Wheeler from Osterville, Cape Cod. ## State Officer Is Grange Speaker

The Northfield Grange was host to many visitors and to Frank E. Nelson of Athol, steward of the Massachusetts State Grange, special guest and speaker, Tuesday evening at the Grange hall. Mr. Nelson brought the greetings of the State Grange and spoke on Grange work and ideals. He stated that the month of June is dedicated to love, marriages and graduations but it also contains flag day, that when he was a boy, on these patriotic holidays, hardly a home did not display a flag but today they are seen seldom except on public buildings, parks, etc., and he urged that every American home own a flag and display it often particularly on patriotic holidays.

An announcement was made of the meeting of the Connecticut Valley Pomona Grange on Monday evening, June 23, in Bernardston when an International Farm Youth Exchange delegate will speak on the Exchange program and personal experiences. Members of the Springfield Pomona Grange will be guests.

An invitation to a neighbors' night meeting of Bernardston Grange on June 18 was accepted and members will present a short program.

A contribution of money was voted for Kurn Hattin Home in Westminster, Vt.

Saturday evening of this week, June 14, local Grange members will visit Millers River Grange of Orange. The Grange cookbooks and pound cans of candy are still on sale by members. The birthdays of Bertha Hammond, Emory Rikert, Lewis Shline, Dorothy Whitney, Mildred Addison, Orletta Bronson, Carroll Miller, Robert Miller and guest, Frank Nelson, were honored as was the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Holbrook, Jr. Guests were present from Keene, Montague, Orange and Athol. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Isabel Carter and Mrs. Etta Cavanaugh.

On the next meeting night, June 24, all will meet at the Grange hall at 7 p.m. to go for a mystery ride.

"Tourist Captives" of Greenfield To Visit Northfield Thursday

Residents Urged To Display Flag

Saturday, June 14, is Flag Day, that is the date in 1777 that the Continental Congress adopted the design for the national flag. It was first flown in battle on Sept. 3, 1777, carried by a detachment under General William Maxwell which met an advance guard of British and Hessian troops under Generals Howe and Cornwallis at Cooch's Bridge, Del. Every home in Northfield where a flag is owned should display it on Saturday.

PVRS Baccalaureate Held at New School

The first baccalaureate program for the Pioneer Valley Regional school was held Sunday afternoon at the school auditorium. The auditorium had many empty seats but the program was solemn and impressive. The senior class, wearing black robes and mortar board caps with white tassels, entered to the processional "War March of the Priests" with Miss Dorothy Eccles, pianist. The audience remained standing to sing "This Is My Father's World" and the prayer of invocation by Rev. Joseph W. Reeves.

Miss Jessica Walker sang "The Lord's Prayer." Rev. Thomas S. Cleaver of the Federated church of Warwick read the lesson, Ex. 3: 1-2. A choir of glee club members sang "Shine, Glorious Sun."

The speaker of the afternoon was Rev. Robert Harding of the Centre church, Brattleboro, Vt., and his subject, "Don't Forget God in Your Living." He advised the young people to check up on themselves, that this is God's world and that they are accountable to Him and they should seek and listen to find His plan for them. He cautioned them not to miss life in the midst of living as there is a part for each to play.

Following the singing of "Onward Christian Soldiers" the benediction was given by Rev. Charles Moore of the Northfield and Bernardston Unitarian churches.

New Church Building Voted Down 76-75

At the adjourned business meeting of the Trinitarian Congregational church Monday evening at the church vestry the motion to build a new church building to house the sanctuary on the first floor and a parish hall in the basement was lost by one vote, 75 in favor and 76 against.

The church building survey committee had made the recommendation at the meeting on May 26 that such a building be constructed at a cost of $170,800. The committee had been named in May, 1956, to study the church needs.

Robert C. Barnes, church moderator, presided at the meeting. Preceding the vote there was a lengthy discussion and E. Charles Fowlston of Amherst, fund-raising counsel for the Massachusetts Congregational conference, spoke on fund raising.

Following the announcement of the results of the ballot the meeting was adjourned indefinitely.

DAR

The Daughters of the American Revolution will make a trip to the D.A.R. forest in Goshen Monday, June 16. The group will leave Northfield at 10 o'clock and will take lunches.

All will meet at the church at 6:15 and the destination will be Lee Canedy's camp in Leyden. All couples and their families are invited. There is no age limit. All will bring a picnic lunch and there are outdoor cooking facilities at the camp.

Tourist captives of Old Greenfield will be brought to Northfield on next week Thursday, June 19. These "captives" will be tourists taken into custody in Greenfield as an area promotion plan by the Chamber of Commerce with the cooperation of other area officials. The northern tour which includes Northfield is under the direction of Leo Saulnier of Turners Falls and Edwin Finch, assistant manager of the Northfield hotel with Mr. and Mrs. Horace Field co-operating. Eighteen people will be in the tour and the schedule is as follows:

Leave the Franklin County Boat club docks at Turners Falls at 10:57 a.m. for Northfield by boat the first such trip in recent times. They will arrive at the Bennett Meadow Bridge at 12 o'clock where a barge furnished by the Western Massachusetts Electric company will make the landing more convenient. If time permits they will visit television station WRLP on Gun Mountain and tour the Northfield School for Girls at 12:45. The group will be guests for lunch at the Northfield Hotel and will then visit the Chateau at 2 p.m. They are scheduled to arrive at Mount Hermon to see that school at 2:45 and will then see a demonstration of silk screen printing at Bob Wert's Country Prints in Gill.

The cavalcade will return to Turners Falls by way of the French King bridge for special ceremonies and to receive gifts. In the evening they will be entertained in Greenfield at the Weldon hotel.

Other groups of "captives" will tour and be entertained in other parts of the county in this co-operative area promotion plan.

The participants for this tour will be selected from tourists entering the area the night before. Their cars will be taken from them and given free service while the occupants will be shown the beauties and attractions of all kinds of this area. The venture is receiving nation-wide publicity and many local people will be interested in welcoming the visitors.

Northfield Schools' Seniors

Hear Dr. Connie M. Guion

"If you are bored with your parents, it is better than to be bored with your husband. You can walk out on your parents and return to a warm welcome but if you walk out on your husband you will walk into the divorce court," is what Dr. Connie M. Guion, professor emeritus of clinical medicine, Cornell Medical college, advised the graduating class of Northfield School for Girls Sunday morning as the school's 75th commencement speaker. Dr. Guion went on to urge her intent audience to "get a foundation upon which you can build your life."

Diplomas were presented by Headmaster Edmond S. Meany, Jr., to 158 girls. At the same time, Dr. Howard L. Rubendall, president of the Northfield schools and headmaster of Mount Hermon school, presented diplomas to 153 Mount Hermon graduates. They and the audience of parents and friends filling the Mount Hermon chapel, heard Frank H. Bowles, director of the college entrance examination board, characterize college as "a form of life insurance . . . which consists of opening doors to the future and of keeping them open." Mr. Bowles told the group that many would change goals and objectives during their first college years and that "you must not consider yourselves as committed to a life work because you now think it attractive; you must be prepared to change when the evidence is clear that you should change."

Dr. Guion held special interest for her audience because of being a Northfield alumna. New York hospital recently announced that its new building to house its outpatient and emergency departments will be named in honor of this woman who has served the hospital as a physician for forty years.

Dr. Guion pointed out the need for a broader educational base in all fields. "Today medical schools are putting emphasis on liberal arts education with the result that graduates of the past ten years have a keener understanding of human values and a greater insight into the philosophy and psychology of people."

In speaking to parents and to the girls as mothers of the next generation, Dr. Guion pointed out that "parents who dread to deny their children any wish or who fail to enforce any discipline, thereby delay children's realization that life must be faced directly without excuses, that infringement of law is always paid for in punishment and that hardships are best met with fortitude." She expressed the opinion that as a result "we have many young people who are rudderless and who long for someone in whom they can confide, whom they can respect and love and to whom they can go for guidance." After saying that "marriage and parenthood are real professions for which stringent preparation is required," Dr. Guion told the parents: "you must not lack the vision of the part a well-rounded education plays in the life of every woman be she bound for marriage or for a career."

Dr. Guion pointed out that "nations are suspicious of the objectives and philosophies of each other," and expressed the view that "if ever we are to have a common meeting ground and mutual trust it must begin with our youth and with education."

United We Stand

The chance for active cooperation on an area level is, surprisingly, relatively rare. This is particularly true in the Tourist Industry where we tend to compete among ourselves for favor. True, we have such excellent groups as the Pioneer Valley Association, and the Mohawk Trail Association doing outstanding work, but as individual communities and enterprises we feel somewhat remote from participation other than by membership.

This is not true for "Tourist Captivity of Old Greenfield Days" beginning next Thursday, June 19. The idea was presented by Joseph E. R. Auclair to the Greenfield Area Chamber of Commerce, and that organization has spear-headed the activities, but it is not purely Greenfield promotion. The tours that the "Captives" will take are designed to point out the advantages of this area educationally, agriculturally, in recreation, in industry, historically of course, and in just plain living. The participation of the Associations, other Chambers of Commerce, and individually interested citizens from Northfield, Winchester, Orange, Turners Falls, Amherst, Deerfield, Shelburne, Charlemont, North Adams, and others, points up once again the strength of unity of purpose, and that we are not alone, that each is dependent on the other, and that together large enterprises become not only possible but important to us individually.

The benefits to be derived from such an enterprise are many, and include national publicity for the area and for individual features of our way of life. But, perhaps, even more important, is the sense of belonging, the sense of accomplishment, the sense of participation, the sense of action, and the sense of being wanted as an integral part of the multiple hitch that can carry us far.

We applaud the broad thinking of Mr. Auclair and the Greenfield Chamber of Commerce. It is most refreshing—and vital, too, for all our futures.

Dickinson Library Notes

At the library this past week we have had one of the traveling exhibits which have been assembled from the Ford Times collection. This exhibit, one of 23 units which comprise the collection, has been recently exhibited at the Talcott library of the Northfield School for Girls.

Painted by Charles Harper of West Virginia, the paintings are about 13 x 20 inches, are beautifully mounted, and to my mind at least, are representative of some of the best in modern art.

There are eleven paintings, all of them birds which have vanished from our American scene. They are the heath hen, the Labrador duck, the Carolina parakeet, the passenger pigeon, the Eskimo curlew, the Everglade kite, the Trumpeter swan, the California condor, the whooping crane and the ivory-billed woodpecker.

We were sorry not to have the exhibit longer and hope we may be able to obtain it at some future time.

The trustees of the library held their regular monthly meeting at the library June 4. Some of the women who comprised the citizens committee for National Library week met with them to discuss plans for increasing the services of the library.

With the close of the elementary schools this week, there will be no regular classes visiting the library. The summer schedule will be somewhat different. There is no planned reading program for the children, as yet. However, with the coming of the summer residents from the Ridge and other summer places in town, our circulation usually maintains a rate comparable to the remainder of the year.

The circulation for the month of May was 28 less than for May, 1957, but, considering the loss of six grades from across the way who formerly used the library daily, it has not fallen as much as was expected. Beginning with the opening of the schools again in the fall, we hope they will use the library even more.

The following adult books are recent additions to our shelves: The White Room, Coatworth; Maggie Now, Betty Smith; Jane Arden, Surgery Nurse, Harris; Mr. Audubon's Lucy, Lucy Kennedy; North from Rome, Helen MacInnes; in non-fiction, A Tool in His Hand, Harrison; The Battle of Cowpens, Kenneth Roberts; inside Russia Today, John Gunther; Life Plus 99 Years, Nathan F. Leopold.
